Affordable Without Compromise

The Lively seating family features an ideal blend of comfort-enhancing ergonomic features, performance-tuned quality, and fresh design. It's affordable without compromise, and it thrives in the thick of the action.

The Lively Task and Side chairs were designed by Steve Nemeth and the Haworth Design Studio. Haworth's groundbreaking research and development in seating ergonomics resulted in best-in-class, award-winning features for both the Zody® and Very® seating families, and they provide an important base for the design of Lively.

Daylong Comfort

With a laundry-list of ergonomic features—both standard and optional—like 4-dimensional arms, height-adjustable lumbar, seat-depth adjustment, and many more, Lively is sure to keep your body content throughout the day. You've got work to do. Use a chair that's designed to help you be more productive.

Worry-Free Quality

Built to handle the daily grind, year after year after year, Lively is manufactured to the highest standards—our own. After all, that's the Haworth name stamped on the frame. Go ahead and compare. Lively's in a class of its own.

Light-Scale Aesthetic

Lively's more than just a comfortable, well-built chair. It's also a diamond in the rough. A thin profile, nine distinct colors, and countless fabric options mean you can pick a design that's all your own. Fit in or stand out — Lively Task and Side will match your style.
